SEEK FUGITIVE IN POISON CASE THROUGH SISTER

Boston Police Hope to Find Muenter and Solve the Mystery.

BOSTON, April 30 .- The police to-day are closely watching Miss Bertha Muenter, sister of Erich Muenter, the Harvard tutor, who disappeared so mysteriously after the death of his wife by

While the young woman declares positively that she knows nothing of her brother's whereabouts, and further asserts that he is entirely innocent of any wrong-doing in connection with the polson mystery, the authorities hope at least to get a definite clue to the fugitive's whereabouts through the sister. The young woman's sudden appear ance in Boston, she coming from Chisight, and the lively interest she is taking in his affairs make her an interesting figure to the police.

Mrs. Edith Chase, a Christian Science nurse, gave the detectives valuable information to-day, which strengthens their belief that Mrs. Muenter was

The police believe Muenter is in hid-ing in Cambridge, three different per-sons having declared they have seen him there since he took the body of his wife to Chicago. This instructor of college youthst has evaded them. There are those who say that he has committed suicide and others who believe that he has gone to the Pacific coast. Still others believe h has gone back to Germany

The police here have been especially interested in the charge that on a former occasion Muenter was suspected of trying to kill his wife by turning on th gas while she and her new-born baby lay asleep in their room. Mrs. Chase was Mrs. Muenter's nurse

While Hurley, Cox and Bryant were in the apartment Miss Muenter appeared. She has dark hair and eyes, a pretty face and an attractive figure.

Miss Muenter, who was greatly excited, told the police officers that she knew morthing of the charge against her brother until she arrived in Boston this morning. She left Chicago Friday night.

"My brother is innocent," she said. "He told me that Mrs. Mienter died following the birth of her child. I see some persons believe my brother is innocent, she and Gen. Grant are to be guests of from his manner and speech that he is sane."

Miss Muenter stopped abruptly and soon returned to the boarding-house.

Dozen Bottles,

There is but one Bass Ale -the same all over the worldthe one pure, perfect brew from English hops and malt. Its consumption increases annually and last year exceeded a Billion

Though handled on close margins, there has been always until now a double profit before it reached the consumer—that of the bottler and retailer, and sometimes several more. Bass Ale has always sold and now sells regularly for not less than $1.80 to $2.00 a dozen, except on rare occasions, when it might be shaved down to $1.75 for a day or two.

To save our patrons these several profits, James Butler arranged with Bass & Co. to ship the Bass Ale to us direct from their Burton-on-Trent brewerles. We began bottling on a big scale six months ago. Our importations of Bass Ale are so extensive that we are able to sell it regularly for $1.50, thus saving our customers 30 to 50 cents on every dozen.

The famous October Brew is now on sale for this price at all the 73 James Butler Licensed Stores. It is perfection, thoroughly settled and properly ripened in our maturing bins. Orders may be left at any James Butler Grocery Store for delivery C. O. D. from the nearest Licensed Branch, and will receive immediate attention.
